- Overdue charges: An amount of Rs 5 - per day per book will be charged if books are not returned within the stipulated period.

Collection Development Policy:

The college library serves the user by providing and promoting access to all forms of information in support of Graduates and Post-Graduate level of study, teaching and research. Library staff take an active role in providing information to students and faculty to use print and electronic information resources. The library collects, indexes, preserves and makes information accessible in a variety of formats in anticipation of user information needs. Library staff add value to the collections and physical library space through service policies and standards that ensure efficient access to collections, promote their use, protect the privacy of users, protect intellectual property rights, and preserve materials for future users. The primary community served by the library is the students, faculty and staff of the college.

Selection Policy:

This is a policy that establishes procedures for the selection and approval of materials that supports the mission and goals of the college.

There are three models of selecting books:

1. The faculty members get to know about the books from such sources as journal articles, conference proceedings, brochures sent to them by publishers, and the web. They send their requisition to the library in prescribed requisition forms and library decides the suppliers who are best suited to supply the books.
2. Suppliers show copies of their books to the faculty members and faculty members recommend some of these books for procurement of the library.
3. Certain books are received as Gift from different national and international sources.

Replacements:

Evaluating the continued need for material worn or damaged beyond repair or lost by user is a fundamental part of collection development. Academic course materials that support the curriculum of the institute are usually the most heavily used material in libraries, and as such, the material most susceptible to damage or loss. Library staff should make every effort to replace material that is still of value to current or future users, but they may also determine that a lost or damaged item does not need to be replaced if other copies or editions are available in the collection or if the title was of marginal significance to the collection.

Weeding:

- To keep the collection live: an obsolete, seldom-used and damaged copies will be withdrawn.
- Documents that are too damaged or worn to use and impossible to repair.
- Serial publications in which the new volume completely supersedes the previous one.
- Additional copies of titles that are receiving little or no use, as long as at least one copy is retained.
- Documents lose their relevance after 30 years will be discarded from library except some of valuable documents.

Stock verification:

Stock verification will be done whenever required.

Purchase procedure:

The books recommended by the faculty members and students approved by the principal will be purchased by providing the purchase order and supply order to registered vendor of the college.

Approval of suppliers:

College approves suppliers on the basis of certain terms and conditions.

Terms and conditions for purchase of books:

- The price of book/document will be as printed on the books or fixed by the publishers.
